

Stichera at the Litia, Glory..., Both Now... Tone 6, Kievan

II

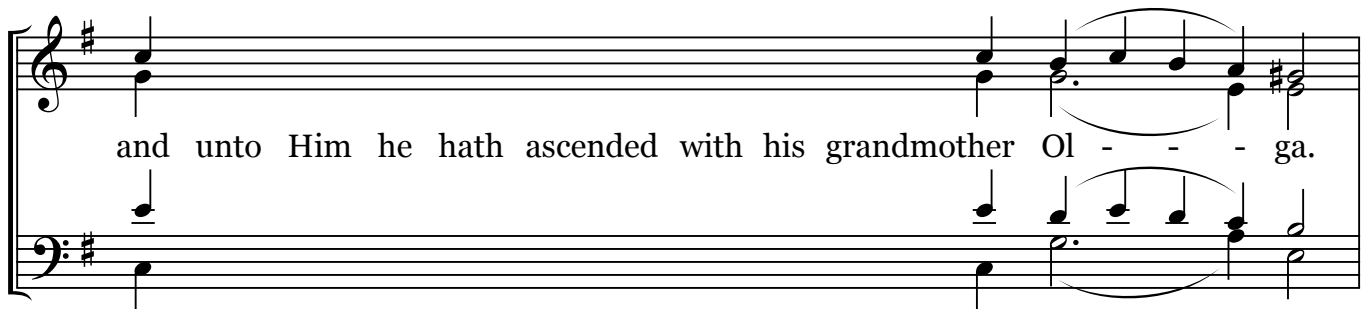

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Ho - - - ly

I

Spi - - - rit. Come ye, let us all has - ten with faith to the honored mem-or - i - al of the father of Russia, Vla-di - mir, our guide;

for lo! he was born to the hea-thens, but came to love Christ Who loved him;

and unto Him he hath ascended with his grandmother Ol - - - ga.

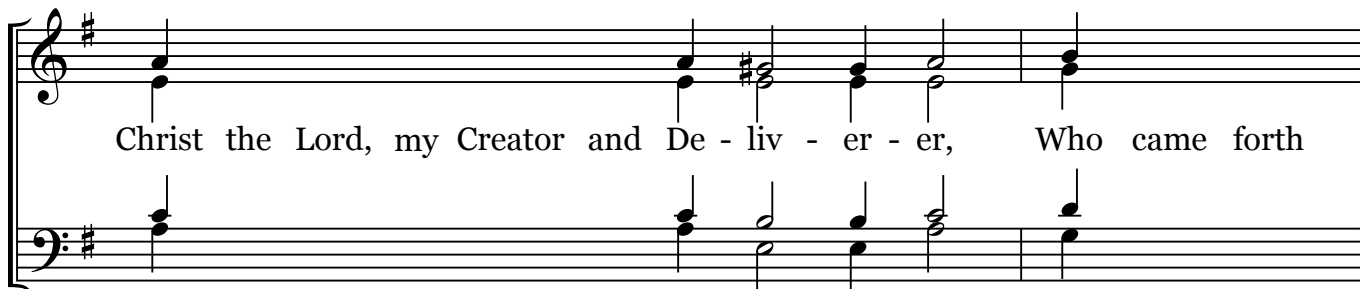

Where-fore, we al - so cel - e - brate with love, entreating him to pray to the Lord for us, that He grant peace to the world and save our souls.

Both now and ever, and unto the a - - ges of a - ges. A - men.

Christ the Lord, my Creator and De - liv - er - er, Who came forth from thy womb, O all-pure — one, and robed Him-self in me, hath freed A - dam from the curse. Where-fore like the an - gel, do we unceasingly cry out to thee, O most pure one,

The first system of musical notation consists of a treble and bass staff joined by a brace on the left. The key signature has one sharp (F#). The melody is written in the treble clef, and the accompaniment is in the bass clef. The lyrics are placed between the two staves. The music features a mix of quarter and eighth notes, with some notes beamed together and others marked with accents.

who art truly the Mother of God and Vir-gin: Rejoice! Rejoice, O Mis - tress,

The second system of musical notation continues the piece. It maintains the same key signature and staff arrangement. The melody continues with similar rhythmic patterns, including some dotted notes and beamed eighth notes. The lyrics are aligned with the notes.

thou intercession, protection and sal - va - tion for our souls!

The third and final system of musical notation concludes the piece. It features a final cadence with a fermata over the final note of the melody. The lyrics are aligned with the notes, ending with an exclamation point.
