October 24: Stichera on "Lord I have cried"

Re-joyce, life bear-ing gar - den! Re-joyce, an - i - mate par - a - dise!

The first system of the musical score consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef with a key signature of one sharp (F#) and a common time signature. The lower staff is in bass clef with the same key signature and time signature. The music is written in a style typical of Russian Orthodox church music, featuring a mix of eighth and sixteenth notes, often beamed together, and rests. The lyrics are written below the notes, with hyphens indicating syllables that span across multiple notes.

Re-joyce, Vir-gin Mo - ther! Re-joyce, thou Bride _____ of God!

The second system of the musical score also consists of two staves in the same key signature and time signature as the first system. The melody continues with similar rhythmic patterns. The lyrics are "Re-joyce, Vir-gin Mo - ther! Re-joyce, thou Bride _____ of God!". There is a long horizontal line under the word "Bride" in the original image, which appears to be a scanning artifact or a placeholder for a longer word. The music concludes with a final chord in the bass staff.
